

Mini-Scope

Marilyn had an opportunity to make a table decoration for a ladies' tea party at her church. She decided to do something astronomy related... She built a small dobsonian telescope as a table decoration.

Marilyn shows off her telescope to the group. Note the use of buttons for the bearings.

There is even a little finder scope.

Here, she is showing the pattern used to cut the cardboard for the base.

This is a wonderful little centerpiece and discussion item. Our congratulations on a simple but very cute decoration.
